

Business Introduction

Information Technology has become an everyday and critical tool for business. Many small to medium sized companies have come to rely on IT, but very often do not have the time, ability or resource to manage such technology efficiently.

Aurora Technologies are committed to providing the highest quality “needs based IT solutions and services” to businesses in and around the East Midlands area.

Established in 1999 by a group of professionals with many years of experience in the computing and networking industry, our focus is on building ongoing partnerships with our clients, allowing them to “single source” all of their IT requirements, simplifying problem resolution and the change management process. In so doing, we ensure an organisation can concentrate on what's important to it, running its business as effectively and as efficiently as possible.

With a thorough understanding of the technologies and issues involved in setting up and maintaining computer systems and network infrastructures, from simple multi-user networks to more complex multi-site systems, we have the expertise to design, procure, install and support a company's complete IT solution.
